like the cholers"; he will sweep the country like a tornade. And the reason is because he is the nomi-nee of the people, was nominated by then, without any pledge or promise, and they surely will move in an invincible host to his support.

THE SCENES OF THE NIGHT. This evening a magnificent ovation was paid Mr. Blaine, when the wildest rejei ings a rain took place over his nomination. Houses were illuminated, tar barrels burned, the bells rung, fired, and other demonstrations were guns It seemed as if every man, woman, and child in the city had turned out to extend their cordial congratulations to their henored townsman, who had been the recipient of so great an honor. This numense mass of people was still further increased numerically when the 8 o'clock train arrived, which was loaded with citizens from Bath, Brunswick, Bowdoinham and all the rest of the towns along the line of the Maine Central Railroad.

AN ADDRESS BY MR. BLAINE. Trains also arrived from Bangor with upward of 1,000 persons. When they arrived at the residence of Mr. Blaine he received them and addressed them as follows.

Gentlemen: I am sure I must regard this as a compliment totally supprecedented in the history of politics in Maine. I do not dare to take the compliment all to myself, but I recognize the earnestness with which you are prepared to enter the pending National compaign, and I have the pleasure to announce to you from a dispatch I have the pleasure to announce to you from a dispatch I have just received that I have myself the honor to be associated on the Republican ticket with that brave and honorable soldier, that eminent Senator and true man, John A. Logan, of Illinois. 'Tremendous applause and cheers three times three for Logan. A volce: "You ran't beat that team." I am sure, gentlemen, I can'add nothing by a speech to that fact, and you would hardly expect me to do more on this occasion than to extraordinary compliment you have paid me in coming from your homes in distant parts of the State on the announcement of the action of the National Convention. I wish my house was large enough to contain you all, as my heart is. [Cries of "Good" and cheers.] I am very sorry that the elements are not as auspictous as they might have been for your visit, IA voice—"We have been my the shower eight years."]—and the way you stand it is a good proof. I am sure, that you are not fair weather soldiers, but are as ready to come out in the canvass on which you will so soon enter.

RATIFICATION AT CLEVELAND. SPEECHES - TORCH-LIGHT PROCESSIONS - MEN SHOUTING THEMSELVES HOARSE FOR BLAINE. (BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.I

CLEVELAND, June 6 .- Last night's exciting scenes at Chicago aroused an interest in Cleveland, that from the early morning hours until long after the annecement of the result, held throngs of people the tip-toe of expectation about the etin boards. When notice of the final outcome was posted at the news centres, enthusiastic shouts went up. Impromptu platforms were crected at one or two places, and the oratory imprisoned since the fall campaign found opportunity to bubble over. In a marvellously short time the crowds on the streets were thickly sprinkled with persons wearing Blaine badges newspapers were almost instantly on the streets with extra issues, one or two printing as many as seven editions to supply the enormous craving for news of the nomination.

In the evening a battery of four pieces fired 100 guns in Monumental Square. Ten thousand people were gathered to take part in the local ratification of the nomination. The speakers were George H. Ely, H. C. White, John C. Covert, of The Leader, and einfer local political lights. Every mention of Biaine, or indeed any of the Republican leaders, drew out tremendous and profined cheers. At a late hour to-night bands of music are parading the streets, followed by humilreds of citizees bearing torches and banners and shouting themselves hoarse for Biaine. The Republican journals to-morrow will express strong approval of the work of the National Convention and predict the success of the ticket by a sweeping unjority.

THE FIRST BLAINE CLUB IN OHIO. A CONGRATULATORY TELEGRAM SENT TO MR. BLAINE.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Youngstown, Ohio, June 6 .- All this aftermoon great crowds were gathered about the bulletin ards watching for the result of the balloting in Chicago As the ballots were being announced by States and achundreds of admirers. When the necessary 411 was reached in the fourth ballot the enthusiasm was without Men rushed up and down the street as if frantic. All felt that it was a vindication of the choice of the XVIIIth district, which has stuck to Blaine from the first. Just as the fourth ballot was announced on the onice Ast Jones appeared on the scene, having just arrived from Chicago. He was called upon for a speech, and mounted the steps and proposed the organization of the first Blatne club in the State. Officers were elected and 200 members signed the roll in ten minutes, when the following telegram was sent to Blaine, at Augusta, Me: "Youngstown, Ohio, James G. DELIGHT AND UNITY IN THE NORTHWEST. IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

St. Paul, Minn., June 6.-The nomination of Blaine is received by the Republicans of Minnesota with almost unqualified delight and enthusiasm. This has been a strong Blaine State ever since the Maine man was first mentioned for the Presidency, and now that the prize of the nomination has been awarded to him at last, and with it the almost absolute certainty of election in November, the gratification of the Republicans here is unbounded. Dispatches to The Pioneer Press from all parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Dakota show that Republicans of all shades of opinion will unite in earnest support of Blaine, no matter what their anteconvention preferences might have been. Minnesota is also grafified with the favorable impression made by ex-Governor Cushman K. Davis, of this state, who seconded Blaine's nomination in the convention last night.

ENTHUSIASM IN GEORGIA. [BY TRLEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

ATLANTA, Ga., June 6.-The bulletin boards a this city were surrounded all day by immense crowds of persons, who cheered vociferously at every announce-ment of a gain for Blaine. At length when the fourth ballot told the story the enthusiasm became uncontrolla ble. Democrats high in office, and in the confidence of their party, cheered Blaine as though they were his strongest supporters. One man, an ex-Tilden elector 1876, said: "Blaine will carry New-York. The Irish vote will be east for him as a man with a vigorous foreign policy. An Irishman's vote within a mile of New-York City Hall weighs a ton." Another be-Heved that rotten borough delegates and negroes would hereafter have to take a back seat. They need their fortunes to the wrong man and negroes would hereafter have to take a back seat. They tied their fortunes to the wrong man and were defeated. On all sides the opinion is expressed that Blaine is a type of true American manhood and his administration will appeal to the pride of every American clitzen. "The Bouth will feel alke listed again," said a gray-haired man whe has been active in the campaigns of the last forty years. "We can feel when we approach the White House that Mr. Blaine is our President."

Reports from Savannah, Macon, Augusta and other points represent the feeling for Blaine as enthusiastic. The impression is also general that Mr. Tilden will not run now and that his forthcoming letter of declination will not long be delayed.

MR. LINCOLN'S VIEWS.

[GENERAL PRESS DISPATCEL] Washington, June 6 .- Secretary Lincoln eatd that he could not at once get over the failure of the President to receive the nomination, which he (Lincoln) thought Mr. Arthur had earned, if such a thing could be said of any one; but, he added, the party had expressed the choice, and in naming Biatic and Logan, had made a strong ticket. It had also made a strong platform, and upon the ticket and platform all Republicans would, he said, unlike heartily to win the customary victory in November.

SATISFACTION IN NEW-ORLEANS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] NEW-ORLEANS, June 6,-The nomination of Blaine was received with general satisfaction by the Republicaus here. While the preference of many was for Logan or Arthur, Blaine is generally regarded as a pext. There has been no display of enthusiasm, but a great determination is expressed to go and poll a big popular vote for the Plumed Knight, even if they do not succeed in giving

ENCOURAGEMENT FROM OHIO. Ohio men are well pleased with the result. Judge West is happy and jubilant. Edwin Cowles, of The Cleveland Leader, says he is well satisfied with the result. Mark A. Hanna said: " It is after all the best selection that could have been made. William McKinley is overjoyed. He was prominently mentioned as a candidacy for the Vice-Presidency, but he declined, saying his only political ambition was to return to the seat in Congress of which he was so recently deprived. As his is a which he was so recently deprived. As his is a Blaine constituency, the chances for the gratification of his political desires are more than promising. The Editor of The Youngstown Ohio Register came out of the Convention hall-immediately after the nominating ballot was announced. He was followed by fifty Blaine boys from Mahoning County, who made a rash for a hatter's where fifty white "plag" hats were purchased. They then marched to their hotel cheering for Blaine and victory. The feeling among the citizens and delegates who come from the Ohio Western Reserve is of the intmost enthusiasm. A delegate said: "There is no living Democrat, not even Tilden or Henry B. Payne, who can carry Ohio as against Blaine. Even in Cleveland and Cuyahoga County, the home of Payne, the Maine statesman will carry the district by a tremendous majority. If we Ohio delegates should have returned to Ohio without seeing the nomination of James G. Blaine we would not have dared to face the people." to face the people.

JOY OVER THE RESULT. CANNON ON THE LAKE FRONT-THE AIR FILLED WITH THE NAME OF BLAINE.

IBT TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, June 6 .- The excitement in the city to night was intense. Thousands of people filled the streets, and througed the sidewalks and hotel lob bies. About 8 o'clock a band of music and a crowd of 10,000 people assembled in front of The Tribene office, from the roof of which a brilliant and costly display of fireworks was made. At the Grand Pacific and Palmer hotels, there was much enthusiasm. Delegates and alternates were greeting each other with words of rejoicing, and every ne appeared happy and satisfied over the result. Every few moments at these great hotels a cheef would break out for the Maine statesman, which resounded from roof to cellar.

TREMENDOUS EXCITEMENT OVER THE RESULT. In the afternoon when the balloting was in progress, the excitement in the streets was beyond precedent. Large crowds assembled in front of the hotels, telegraph offices and newspaper establish ments, and there was loud cheering when the result ments, and there was iond cheering when the result of the ballots and the progress of the voting was announced. When the last and nominating ballot was announced pandemonium broke loose. Two large cannon were stationed near the convention hall on the lake front, and 100 guns were fired in honor of the nomination. In an incredibly short space of time the streets were overrun with hucksters and peddlers. There were Blaine songs and Blaine badges, Blaine canes and Blaine photographs, and prints on sale, and the very air seemed filled with the name of Blaine. with the name of Blaine.

THE CORNELL TRUSTEESHIP.

THREE CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD.

PRESIDENT WHITE'S OPPONENTS NOT SO OUT-SPOKEN AS LAST YEAR-A CLOSE CONTEST PROBABLE.

ITHACA, June 6 .- The alumni of Cornell Unisity at each commencement elect a member of the Board of Trustees, who serves for five years. Thus there are always five active members of the Board elected by the alumni. In the earlier years of the University's history the graduates were accustomed to name person of prominence who had shown himself a friend of the institution. As the graduates of the earlier classes, however, began to obtain reputation for themselves, the alumni preferred to select trustees from their own numer; and this has now come to be the invariable custom er a recent law of this State those graduates who cannot be present at the election in Ithaca are permitted to send on by mail the names of the persons for whom they wish to vote. If no one of the candidates has a majority of the ballots cast, including those sent by mail then the election devolves upon those actually present.

Last year the election was of a somewhat aerimonion character, and much feeling was manifested. An alumni trustee who had been elected the previous year, made a bitter personal attack upon President White, and upon his administration of the University's affairs. In this he was practically sustained by the majority of the members of the Alumni Association in New-York, but was con-demned by a respectable minority, and by the most of the Cornell graduates in other parts of the country. There were three principal candidates for the trusteeship -James F. Gluck, a Buffalo lawyer, and ex-Assembly man Henry L. Sprague, of New-York, both of whom esented the spirit of loyalty to the President; and Francis W. Halsey, of New-York, who was put forward as the especial representative of the feeling of hostility to President White and the non-alumni trustees. This spirit was carried to such a length in the New-York Asspeciation that mild resolutions of appreciation of Presi-dent Walte's work for the University were voted down by a large majority. No one being chosen upon the first ballot, at Ithaca, in June, all the supporters of the other candidates and of the president united upon Mr. Gluck against Mr. Halsey, electing the former by a large maagainst Mr. Halsey, electing the former by a large majority.

This year Mr. Halsey is again a candidate. The other candidates are Judge Joseph B. Foraker, of Cineinnati, the Republican cambidate for Governor of Ohio last year; and the Rev. George R. Van De Water, rector of St. Luke's (Episcopah Church, Brocklyn. The character of the contest this year has been materially changed by recent action on the part of Mr. Halsey and his supporters. In response to inquiries as to his present attitude toward, President White, Mr. Halsey has written an open letter in which he disclaims all feeling of personal hostility, and says with regard to the president: "I should be only too glad to co-operate with him under his leadership, and therefore I have not assumed, no can into assumed, no can in now assume, that either I or my candidacy is in opposition to him; for to de this would, I think, be impeaching his good fatth, and this I have neither the right nor the the Plumed Knight, even if they do not succeed in giving him the electoral vote of the State. The Democrats wanted Arthur for various reasons, the principal one of which was, as they said, that Arthur had shown himself a friend of the Mississippi Valley, and in the event of Republican success next November, they wanted him back in the Fresidential enair. Some were reminded that which said the said leadir, some were reminded that which said the comparatively mild character of the comparatively mild character of the superiors of Mr. Halsey's cleetion, which says that "If any of the Board of Trustees. The spirit shown in this part is indicated by a circular stand took consolation from the fact. They regard Blaine was in the Cabinet he was triendly to the South, and the said the comparatively mild character of the entities of the Board of Trustees. The spirit shown in this part is indicated by a circular of the Board of Trustees. The spirit shown in this part is for a passing on court stays in Berryville, and the ADVANCE ON ITS PREDECESSORS.

WASHINGTON, June 6,—Representative William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvana, to-day sent the following dispatch to William McKinley, jr., chairman of the Committee on Resolutions of the Republican National Convention: "The resolutions adopted by the convention crustees the progressive spirit of the Republican Party. The platform is an advance on its predecessors and I dedicate my pen and voice to its expectation and defence."

information has not in our judgment been derived from trustworthy sources."

Because of the withdrawal of the personal accusations before directed at President White, the election this year will probably lack some of the unpleasant features that characterized it last June, as it is asserted that no result could be construed into an indorsement of that attack. Nevertheless, the friends of each candidate have been actively at work for weeks. Circulars setting forth the merits and attitudes of each candidate have been sent to each alumnus. Those of Mr. Van De Water and Judge Poraker's friends cordially approve the past administration of the University. The Cornell graduates in the West are mainly in favor of Judge Foraker; those in the East are divided between Mr. Van De Water and Mr. Halsey. The friends of each candidate claim to be confident of success. It probably will be a close contest.

The third might be termed the civic cemetery of Winleaster. The most notable grave in it is that of General Daniel Mergan, the hero of the Cowpens, who passed the arly and the closing years of his eventful life in Winchester. June grasses flourish freely on the sidewalks of the main thoroughfare, and the drowsy tinkling of cowbeils at indiking time resonants through the streets. One of the principal occupations of the people is the collection of relies. They possess many curious and interesting mementos of Braddeok, Washington, Morgan and Lord Pairfax. The latter was the holder under royal letters patent of all this fertile compry, called the northern neek of Virginia. He had two residences, one called Belvort, twelve miles below Mount Vernon, on the Potomac, and the other Grreenway Court, which he built for hunting purposes, eight miles from this place toward the Shenandoah River. The pots and pans and camping utensis which General Braddock carried on his ill-fated march to the forks of the Ohio are counted among the sacred treasures of many families. A lawyer who owns a farm six miles east of here, showed me a small oblong copper plate which was recently ploughed up on his place, where Braddock was said to have pitched his first tent after starting from Winchester on the expedition. The plate is covered with hieroglyphics and letters, and the owner believes it to have been Braddock's cypher key. A GROWING BLAINE SENTIMENT. TALKS WITH SEVERAL PROMINENT MEMBERS-BLAINE A STRONG CANDIDATE.

The Union League Club house was filled at an early hour last evening with interested members who met to discuss the Republican nominations at Chicago. Many of the club members had expressed themselves before the convention met as heartily in favor of the omination of President Arthur, who is a member of the club. But a large number of members, whose feelings were strangly in favor of the Maine statesman, but who remained quiet while the friends of the President were making active efforts in favor of their candidate, expressed last night with freedom their real sentiments. Some of them were enthusiastic in their comments and others who had not been active supporters of Mr. Blaine's nomination expressed their acquiescence in the work of the convention. A crowd of members gathered around one of the pillars in the lobby of the club-house and listened to some remarks by Assemblyman Walter Howe, who had visited the convention in company with Mr. Arthur's supporters. Mr. Howe felt disappointed with the result and a few of the members expressed themselves as doubtful as to the wisdom of the selections made by the convention. General Jackson, Dr. Rooss, Mr. Ludington and others answered with spirit the complaints of the dissatisfied members and the prevailing opinion was that the members of the club would heartily support the nominees. The discussion was lively but good-natured. A leading member said: "The club is a Republican club and will support the nominees that the convenion in its wisdom named;" and the sentiments so expressed seemed to be almost universal.

GENERAL JACKSON'S OPINIONS. making active efforts in favor of their candidate, GENERAL JACKSON'S OPINIONS

General Joseph C. Jackson was visibly elated by the nomination. "Twenty-four years ago," said he, " I was at a convention such as is now in progress at Chicago. On my way there I heard from Republicans everywhere nothing but the name of Seward. Well, Lincoln was nominated and Seward was defeated and I think it must e admitted that the result was one eminently satisfactory. So it will prove with Mr. Blaine, I am well convinced. In my opinion the country has been gradually preparing itself for this nomination. The op-position on the part of the friends of the principal candidates other than Mr. Blaine has not been harsh, and what there was of bitterness has almost altogether disappeared, while the action of Mr. Flaine's supporters during the convention has had considerable effect in harmonizing the Republican party. The older Republicans, so far as I can see, without any exception, give promise of supporting the nomination with their usual energy. The younger and middle-aged men have accepted the nomination with marked enthusiasm. There seems to be a fresh Republican breeze sweeping the central and western portion of the continent, which ought to revive the drooping forces of the City of New-York. Those returning from Chicago come back amazed at the greatness of the West. The nomination seems due to the pronounced desire of the Republican party as a whole to place in the Presidential chair one who represents the principles of the party. I believe Blaine will utter his sentiments with no uncertain sound. He will place the tariff on a sound bass. He is a friend of hard money. We shall no longer see the affairs of the country loosely managed. We shall have a navy worthy of the country-of its past renown and present dignity. The nomination is one typically American, representing the spirit of this vast continent in all its vigor and desire for progress. It is one which will certainly tend to lift the country out of its present dejected state of feeling in commercial matters, trade and business. As to the agricultural community, that is able to take care of itself. New-Yorkers have observed other great growing cities on this continent, and have been struck with the growth, vigor and promise of other great States. One of the effects of the grand popular demonstration in Chicago will be to aliminate the different localities toward intelligent and thorough local government. Another probable effect will be the atimulating of the party in this city and state. Many Republicans feel that they have been too iong chained to the corpose of the Percublican praciples. Ethan Allen said: "The strong point in Blaine's favor is his thorough Americanism. I have followed his canvass losely and was almost certain that he would be elected in the third ballot, and I was not very far on the third ballet, and I was not very far wreng. I think Blame is without doubt the man for the people and I ballete we shall have the most brilliant administration we have seen for many years. Of course he will be elected, for he will bave the support of all honest Republicans. I think he will carry this State. I sent him two dispatches today, the first as follows: Statesmen to the front. Dudes to the rest. The second: Williams new and millions yet unborn will relotee at this day's work. The country again demands the services of a real and veteran statesman to direct her course. Congratulations. "The feeling, as far as I can judge, is extremely favorable to Mr. Blame, considering the bitterness which has gone before, but now that their men are beaten the friends of the other candidates are gradually coming around. I was talking to three prominent Democrats to-day, each of whom told me he would vote for Blaine."

MR. EINSTEIN ENTHUSIASTIC. quainted with Mr. Blaine, and his nomination has my hearty approval. I know that many members of the club have been in favor of other candidates. I have nough man to make the best of candidates. What the Republican party needs is a strong man as a leader and we will have that in Mr. Blaine. The sentiments of some of the members against the nomination of Mr. Blaine will soon be followed by a feeling of anxiety to support the candidates of the party. The party in the last campaign had the benefit of the strong desire to have the free trade theory defeated. As a large manufacturer I took an active part in carrying out the plans for spreading a wide knowledge of the trails of protection, and labored in originating and distributing documents in favor of protection. The same feeling prevails now and will have great weight in the present canvass. I am very glad that we have such a candidate as the Convention has given us. I sent a telegraphic dispatch to-night to Mr. Blaine at Augusta, in which I said: 'Accept my heartlest congratulations. New-York will east its electoral vote for you and in favor of protection to American indistry.' will soon be followed by a feeling of anxiety to support

Yet I ave always been an independent Republican, and have on been afraid to express my opinion when it was occssary. I have been surprised to hear expressions sed by members of the club, showing dissatisfaction in the candidate. But those feelings are only temprary and caused by disappointment. Mr. Blatne's time will arouse the greatest enthusiasm throughout to country. He will undoubtedly be elected and ought have the support of all." the country. He will unabbledly be excrete and object to have the support of all."

E. Clapp said: "I am greatly pleased at Mr. Blaine's nonthation. I can not imagine anything more mean and unfair than that any of those who took part in the Republican convention should refuse to support the mominee. I have heard remarks that would indicate that men had thoright of taking such action, but I do not believe that any one will be capable of such an act. The slight opposition will die out. Mr. Blaine's nomination is the strongest possible one, for as THE TRIBUER has said, if the most popular man cannot be elected, how can a less strongest possible one, for as this triplates has said, the most popular man cannot be elected, how can a less popular one be elected! The mean attacks on Blaine only strengthen the candidate, for the American people love fair play, and when they see a man unfairly treated, their sympathy leads them to support him all the more strongly. So all these faise and unfair attacks will only result in making Mr. Blaine stronger with the people."

A STRONG, CLEAN CANDIDATE. tion. There were only two candidates and the better man of the two has won. I am sincerely glad the result and think Blaine will be elected an enormous vote. We have had enough of dark horses-men who are absolutely coloriess and without characteristics. Now we have a candidate who is a strong man, an abie man and a man of clean record. He has been battling in the public clean record. He has been battling in the public arena for a lifetime, and must of necessity show a few scratches, but I am emercely thankint that our party has such a man as Blaine to vote to victory in November. He is the first Eastern candidate we have had for many years and I believe he will carry this state. Every Republican who respects himself and his party ought to vote for him."

N. H. L. Lee said: "I have no sympathy with those who, now that the nomination has been made, cannot cast uside their petty feelings and though Blaine was not their first choice, give him all their support. That is not my life of a party or of our existing methods. Such a course would strike a blow at the whole system of representation and pointed means, it has disgusted me to hear several men talking to-night and showing their disappointment. Blaine is a brilliant man and will make a brilliant President."

Mr. Luddington and: "Biaine was not my first choice, but I shall certainly vote for him. I think it is my duty."

brilliant President."

Mr. Ludington and: "Binine was not my first choice, but I shall certainly vote for him. I think it is my duty and the duty of every Republican to do so. I am glad to feel, though, that I shall east my vote for an anie man and a thorough statesman. I think he will be a sirong man before the country and if iliden is nominated by the Democrats I think the Republican victary is assured."

E. B. Hinsdale, counsel for the Long Island Ralirond Company, said:

E. R. Hins-lake, coursel for the Long Island Kahrond Company, said:

"This club cought to support the nomination and I am convinced that it wildo so. Many Democrats in this State will vote for Blaime and if Tilden is nominated he will get no Republican vote at all. Mr. Blaine is a great man and a great states man. I cannot put my finger on one point in his record which needs extenuation. I look forward hopefully to the election and hope that all kepublicans will do their duty. I do not fear another stampede such as elected Coveland."

WHAT TWO ARTHUR MEN SAY. One of the Arthur "business men " who has j turned from Chicago said: "I was of course pointed at his failure. But at the same time I think Mr. Raine is the next best candidate that could have been thosen. I shall vote for him, and think every Republication of the School of Philosophical Control of can, whatever his personal preferences, should do like-wise."

A prominent banker who was in favor of President Arthur's nomination said: "I was for Arthur, now I am for Blaine. The preferences of many members of the club were for Arthur, but it is well to remember that there are other parts of the country and that Biane was the favorite in many places. The club must support the nomineeseven if they are not such as it would have chosen, and there is no doubt that this feeling will soon prevail. The principles of the Republican party ment the support of every man, and the nominees of the convention will be elected."

Charles Butler, one of the vice-presidents of the club, and one of the most conservative members, said in conversation with another member, that though Blaine thad not been his first choice he would gladly support him as the candidate of the party. Thomas C. Acton and other friends of President Arthur expressed acquiescence in the work of the Convention.

CHIEF JUSTICE DAVIS'S SENTIMENTS. Presiding Justice Noah Davis said last even-

"The nomination of Mr. Blaine has been made by the representatives of the majority of the Republican party; and every Republican, however he may have feit heretofore as to the expediency of the nomination, is bound to ac cept it as the fair result of the collected representation of the Republican party, and to give to it his cordial support. The principles expressed in the platform Mr. Blaine represents as clearly and fully as any man that could be selected. He possesses the qualities and ability to maintain and carry out those principles in a measure unexcelled by any man in the country, and I have no doubt may be relied on, if elected, to give us a thoroughly Amercan administration, in the best sense of the term ican administration, in the best sense of the term—one entirely conservative in its prudence and firmness in dealing with all questions both foreign and domestic. He will, in my judgment, vindicate and enforce the principles and measures of the Republican party with visor and efficiency. I am thoroughly setisfied with his nomination because it is the fairly expressed choice of analority of the Republicans of the country, and I shall give to it my most hearty support. I believe that Mr. Biaine can and will be elected, and that in that event, every Republican will be proud of his success and eventually giad that the nomination was conferred upon him. The piatform is satisfactory to me, asit doubtless is to every Republican."

A WISE AND DISCREET NOMINATION.

Levi M. Bates, of No. 254 Madison-ave., said ast night: "I think it was a very wise and discreet nomination, and that it will result in a splendid victory next autumn for the Republican party. My first choice was Blaine. He will create a great deal of enthusiasm among the young Republicans throughout the whole country, and the young Republicans throughout the whole country, and particularly in the West, where they are fairly crazy over him, as I cearned from a leading representative of Chicago yesterday. He told me that Blaine would surely be nominated, they were so wild over him. I could hardly believe it, but the event has justified his prediction. Again, his nomination will head all differences in the State of New-York, and in the coming election the Republican party will be united throughout the whole State. There has been a wide difference in views among Republicans north and west of Albany, and a bitter feeling has grown out of it, which, in my opision, will now be completely allayed. Blaine is a fluent speaker and I think that there will be one of the most lively canvasses during the coming campaign that we have seen in a great many years. The platform as a whole is good, though it seems to me that if some things had been left out it would have been just as strong."

WHAT ELLIOTT F. SHEPARD SAYS. Elliott F. Shepard, who was found at his me. No. 2 West Firty second-st., was much pleased with the nomination. He said:

Blaine was nominated by the friends of all the candidates. I see that he got 71 votes from Arthur, 52 from Edmunds, 56 from Logan, 28 from Sherman, and 2 from Lincoln. The result will be a union of all the candidates and their friends upon him. The vote shows that there was a good feeling in the convention, and a spirit of harmony which will make his nomination acceptable to all sections of the party. No man can better heal the factional differences in the party than he, because he is every man's friend. He is a natural leader, a finished orator, and his book of recollections is fellcitons, showing him to be a man of omprehensive mind. He has been true to his principles ever since he has been in public life, and the people know that they can trust him. He will carry know that they can trust him. He will carry the State of New-York by a big majority. He is right on all the questions before the people now, and I believe it possible for him to sweep the country as the Whics did in 1840 with "Tipuecanoe and Tyler, too."
Init speech of Martin I. Townsend's placing Arthur in monimation struck me as being one of the most unifortu mate nonmaning speechs that was ever made. When I read it this morning I said, "That ents Arthur's chances," I think that the platform is wise, comprehensive and benignant; and after the passage of the resolution commendatory of Arthur's administration, his triesds are in accurate bound to and will support the nomination with might and main."

PHILADELPHIA AND READING PAYMENTS.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.-The receivers of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company have flied an application in the United States Court for power o issue $2,000,000 of receivers' certificates to me nediate payments. The arrangement with the Messrs. Drexel to pay the coupons of the consolidated loan of the company was only blading for thirty days, and a portion of the receivers' certificates will be put aside for that purpose. Plans have been arranged netween counsel for a compromise in the Pinsmore suit against the Reading Railroad Company to prevent the lease of the Jersey Central Railroad to the former company. Cenferences have been held between counsel on poth sides and it is have been held between counsel on both sides, and it is thought that the terms of compromise which have not been definitely agreed upon will be arranged next week.

FINDING A DEAD BODY FULL OF WOUNDS.

A boy who was standing on the pier at James Slip early yesterday morning, discovered the body of a man in the river, and informed Policeman Kulle, of the Oak Street Station. The policeman procured a boat from the Steamboat Mayflower, and accompanied by Daniel J. Creighton, one of the panied by Damel J. Creighton, one of the deckhands of the steamboat, rowed out to the body, and lifting it into the boat landed it on the pier at the foot of Oliver-st. The man was apparently between forty and fifty years old, about five feet seven inches in height, with thin sandy hair and mustache. The body was much swollen, and had the appearance of having been in the water for at least a week. On the left side of the neck was a deep, clean-cut gash, which had severed the jugular vein. There was another similar gash on the right check, and still another on the back of the head. The sevent at the Oak Street Station said that The sergeant at the Oak Street Station said that the wounds had the appearance of having been made with a sharp axe. The body was removed to the Oak Street Station, and subsequently taken to the Morgue.

RESULTS OF THE HORSE SHOW.

The first annual meeting of the National Horse Show Association was held last evening at Delmonico's, John G. Heckscher, first vice-president, presiding in the absence of Cornelius Fellows. The old board of officers was re-elected; the only change being that A. Newbold Morris succeeded Frederick Wilson as one of the directors. The treasurer reported that the expenses of the last show exceeded the receipts by about $3,000. General satisfaction was expressed in the results of the show and expecially in the improved anality of w, and especially in the improved quality of exhibits. It is probable that the next show be held in October, 1885; it having been not that the autumn is a better time both for exhibiting and selling horses, and for interesting the

A TRIBUTE TO GENERAL BERRY.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: The War of the Rebellion produced many excellent soldiers, it being the best possible school, and many, who began low in rank, coming up with experience, showed qualities of the highest order. Among these was General William M. Berry, of the Louisville Legion, now a citizen of Quiney III. He succeeded Rous-seau in command of that regiment, leading it in the most gallant and efficient manner to the end of the war. It has never been my fortune to know a better soldier. His regiment was assigned to my brigade while we were besieged at Chattanooga, after faring so badly unde McCook at Perryville, Stone River, and Chickamanga McCook at Perryville, Stone River, and Chickamauga.

No troops could show a better spirit, or greater eagerness for success in battle. At Chathanooga Berry was shot three times on Monday, white leading in the charge on Orehard Knobs, and, though disabled he was again with his command on Wednesday at Mission Ridge, and, when half way up, was struck by a grape shot on the knoe, and was carried by his men in the midst of the charge to the summit, and was then lifted upon an artillery horse, where I first met into.

BLAINE THE MOST POPULAR MAN.

Amos L. Hopkins, vice-president of the Wabash

"There is no more popular man in the country than Mr. Blaine. He has been the choice of the people for a long time, but his very popularity has made him the target of all calumny and abuse. Now the irrepressible enthusiasm which has made him the Repub candidate will carry him to Washington. It will increase every day until the election which will end in crease every day until the election which will end in his triumph. It will make no difference in the result who the candidate of the Democratic party may be; Biaine will sweep the country from one end to the other. In this success THE TRIBUNE has been foremost. It has said the right things and always at the right time. It has been a warm but also a discreet advocate. THE TRIBUNE deserves the thanks of the people for its wise support of the people's choice."
